The Medieval Chronicle 11 (2018) - Contents

Preface
List of Contributors

1 Eyewitness and Medieval Historical Narrative
   Marcus Bull

2 La Chronique de Memmingen : histoire et luttes politiques dans une ville d’Empire au XV\textsuperscript{e} siècle
   Dominique Adrian

3 Le rôle du connecteur car (ou nam/enim) dans la prose historique : connecteur interphrastique ?
   Anders Bengtsson

4 The Vindication of Sancho II in the Crónica de Castilla: Political Identity and Historiographical Reinvention in Medieval Castilian Chronicles
   Kim Bergqvist

5 Faux Pas in the Chronicles: What is a Pas d’armes?
   Cathy Blunk

6 The Perception and Evaluation of Foreign Soldiers in the Wars of King Peter I of Cyprus: The Evidence of the Cypriot Chronicles and Its Shortcomings
   Nicholas Coureas

7 ‘Toujours loyal’: A Middle Dutch Chronicle of Flanders by Jan van Dixmude in Sixteenth-Century Ghent
   Lisa Demets

8 Using an Example: Denis Sauvage, Philippe de Commines and the ‘Vieil Exemplaire’
   Catherine Emerson

9 Reassessing Spanish Chronicle Writing before 900: The Tradition of Compilation in Oviedo at the End of the Ninth Century
   Rodrigo Furtado

10 Decennovenal Reason and Unreason in the C-Text of Annales Cambriae
    Henry Gough-Cooper

11 The Battle of Gallipoli 1416: A Detail Rescued from a Chronicle
    John Melville-Jones

12 The Origins of the Polish Piast Dynasty as Chronicled by Bishop Vincent of Kraków (Wincenty Kadlubek) to Serve as a Political Model for His Own Contemporary Time
    Grischa Vercamer

13 Review: The Chronicle of Amadi, Translated from the Italian by Nicholas Coureas and Peter Edbury
    Karl Borchardt

14 Review: Éloïse Adde-Vomáčka, La Chronique de Dalimil
    Ivan Hlaváček

Sjoerd Levelt